RE: UNSUB;

[REDACTED] - SOURCE

On 4/24/72, SA [REDACTED], Airport RA at New York City, advised that he has received the teletype Seattle sent 4/23/72 and had some additional questions. He wanted to know if Seattle was in possession of the picture of three $20 bills which had been provided to the New York Office by Newsweek magazine. He was advised we do have it.

[REDACTED] advised that they have not yet received bureau authority to interview KARL FLEMING and in discussion about such an interview, he advised that he has no knowledge of the existence of a story or manuscript reportedly outlining the hijacking and the hijacker's background. He did have both copies of the picture and pointed out that the one of the man taken in the street was received by the New York Office, but not the one in the knit hat until they were sent to New York by Seattle by courier on 4/23/72.

[REDACTED] was brought up to date with developments at Seattle and advised he would immediately inform Seattle if and when Bureau authority is obtained to interview FLEMING.

[redacted] also known as [redacted] was reinterviewed at his residence located at [redacted], Seabeck, Washington, by Special Agents [redacted]

[redacted] was informed that [redacted] was interviewed at length on the night of April 22 and that the story he tells is at variance and has several inconsistencies with [redacted] story.

[redacted] admitted that what [redacted] states as to his calling [redacted] on the telephone at his residence around Christmas, 1971, and inviting he and his family over for a social evening is true. He also states sometime later he also called [redacted] to pick him up at the ferry dock in Seattle in order for [redacted] to take him to S. L. Savidge Automobile Company where he was going to obtain a title on a pickup truck and camper and that this story as related by [redacted] is also correct. [redacted] stated on this particular day after he had picked up the title of this pickup and camper he and [redacted] looked for auto parts which essentially was two fenders for his Toronado which would cost approximately $900 and because this was too expensive, he did not purchase the fenders and the rest of the evening he and [redacted] spent drinking at the Edgewater Inn in Seattle. [redacted] was then informed that according to [redacted] he had never been in the paratroopers in the U.S. Army and had never had parachute training and had also not been out of the country. Then [redacted] admitted he might have called [redacted] late one night, but denied that he had requested that [redacted] furnish him a typewriter as he had three typewriters of his own. He was then asked even though this was so, did he make a request of [redacted] to [redacted] at the Edgewater Inn. [redacted] then stated that he had never registered under an assumed name at the Edgewater Inn or anywhere else and that if he had wanted a [redacted] he would have requested one from the desk of the Edgewater Inn. then explained that if he had made such a call it was because he was "smashed."

[] was then exhibited a photograph of a white male dressed in a sweater and tie with dark sunglasses standing at the corner of 5th and Pacific in Bremerton, Washington, and asked if he knew this individual. [] upon observing this photograph stated that this picture was not of him and it was not of his father and it was not of his brother. He further stated that he did not know this individual and maintained that he did not introduce CARL FLEMING of Newsweek Magazine to this man in the photograph or to anyone else and that he did not introduce anyone to the man in this photograph.

[] then stated the only time he saw CARL FLEMING was on Friday, during the latter part of February, exact date not recalled and that he was interviewed at length by Mr. FLEMING for personal background information and after a detailed and lengthy interview they ended up having dinner along with [] at the Windjammer Restaurant in Seattle. At this point in the interview [] was interrupted by his wife who momentarily came into the kitchen where the interview was being conducted, and she stated that they saw CARL FLEMING on a Monday instead of a Friday. [] then said this may have been so. At this point [] was asked if Mr. FLEMING had paid him any money whatsoever and [] advised that CARL FLEMING had paid him [] in cash for expenses incurred for this story and that this occurred on the day that he and his wife had dinner with Mr. FLEMING and that he had given Mr. FLEMING a [] for this [] payment. [] then admitted telephoning CARL FLEMING a number of times at the Edgewater Inn in Seattle after their interview which was on a Monday, but maintained that he never got in touch with Mr. FLEMING. He then explained that if any of the telephone calls he made to the Edgewater Inn on the day following his interview by FLEMING were over three minutes in length, it was because he had Mr. FLEMING paged. b6

[] then stated he received [] through FLEMING from Newsweek Magazine [] bases on his theory of the November 24, 1971 airplane hijacking and if that is a federal crime then he is guilty since [] makes it grand larceny. He then stated []

[] He further stated that he had a lot of work, research and travel all over the country, incurring this expense in regard to this story. He then suggested that the FBI talk to [] (phonetic) of the "Bremerton Sun" since he also talked to her []. He reiterated this suggestion several times during the interview and then also suggested that [], the airplane stewardess be shown the purported picture of the hijacker to determine whether it is actually the individual.

RE: [REDACTED] - SOURCE

On 4/23/72 I called Assistant Director CHARLES BATES at the Bureau. I reminded him that on February 23, there was a telephone call made from the Edgewater Inn from the room occupied by CARL FLEMING to a man by the name of [REDACTED] at Silverdale, Washington. We had run a background check on [REDACTED] and it would appear that his background is for all practical purposes, identical with the profile that we had extracted from the [REDACTED]. We had interviewed [REDACTED] and he admitted knowing CARL FLEMING. As a matter of fact, he admitted that he had put an ad in the paper, got a call one night from a person whose voice he recognized and believed that this was the hijacker. In fact, he said that initially he would be able, through his contacts, to invest the money for the hijacker and would do so. In pressing him for the identity of the person making the telephone call, he advised that it could have been [REDACTED] the Northwest Auto parts in Seattle. He further advised that the photograph of the man in the black and white cap could possibly be [REDACTED]. We had interviewed [REDACTED] and he denied being the man in the photograph, denied being the person who called [REDACTED]. In fact, he thinks that [REDACTED] is a "ding bat." I advised Mr. BATES that the second photograph delivered to us, that of the man standing by the automobiles, was actually taken in Bremerton, Washington, and the photograph did bear some resemblance to [REDACTED], but we did not know if it was him or not. I told him that we were back interviewing [REDACTED] today and were checking the alibi of [REDACTED] and would let him have the results as well as New York before they conducted the interview of FLEMING.

I advised him that we were completely justified in interviewing FLEMING to determine identity of person in Seattle, who was photograph by [redacted] since we had clearly established details of this matter completely independently of information furnished to Mr. HENRY PETERSON by [redacted]

I said we could play around with this all day but I thought the logical approach was to interview FLEMING at once.

He called back and advised FLEMING should be interviewed by Los Angeles without any reference whatsoever to [redacted] but deal entirely with FLEMING's trip to Seattle by him, [redacted] as well as [redacted] and we desired to know immediately the identity of the person whom he interviewed in Seattle together with details of the interview.

They called his [redacted] and talked to [redacted]. He said FLEMING was in New York and would probably return about the middle of next week. They did not have a number for him but thought he could be reached through Newsweek magazine.

After talking to you, I called Asst. Director BATES at the Bureau and advised him of the circumstances. He said that this posed somewhat of a problem in view of the Director's feeling about Newsweek, and felt the proper way to handle it was for Los Angeles to come into the Bureau with a teletype with copies for Seattle and New York, summarizing the interviews with [redacted] and set out the desirability of interviewing FLEMING for the purpose of determining the identity of the person whom he interviewed in Seattle, together with the details of the interview.

Los Angeles should then set out what they found out today about FLEMING's presence in New York and instruct New York to interview FLEMING, UACB.

He advised that he had learned from SA [redacted] in Eugene that witness [redacted] had been shown a photo at 2:00 AM, this morning by a representative of Newsweek. This picture showed a man who appeared to be handcuffed and was facing a street near a store. [redacted] allegedly told the Newsweek representative he could not recognize this individual as being the hijacker. He told SA [redacted] that the picture in fact did look like the UNSUB. HIMMELSBACH said he could not be any more definite about [redacted] remarks since he had not talked to Him, himself. He said that [redacted] allegedly advised [redacted] that the Newsweek magazine had his name and address since they interviewed him the night of the hijacking.

RE: UNSUB;

At approximately 9:45 PM, 4/20/72, SA [] [] Los Angeles Division, telephonically furnished the following information.

[] advised that earlier on 4/20/72, when [] was first approached by bureau Agents, he seemed shaken and said he did not wish to talk to the Agents further until he had a change to consult his attorney.

Later on the afternoon of 4/20/72, he contacted the Los Angeles office and agreed to be interviewed, but requested the Agents contact him away from the FBI office.

At approximately 5:00 PM, Agent TRUAX and SA BOB STRANGER proceeded to leave the Los Angeles office to contact []

When he called at 9:45 PM, [] advised that [] had furnished the following information concerning his trip to Seattle and although he seemed somewhat hesitant at times to fully disclose his activity, they felt that he would tell most of what he could remember. [] advised that [] had admitted that he and [] had travelled to Seattle by air for the purpose of making a recording for a KARL FLEMING of Newsweek magazine. [] advised that [] was hired by FLEMING and that [] who had been a fellow university [] then contacted [] for the purpose of making the recording. [] travelled from Los Angeles to Seattle by air in the late afternoon and when they arrived at the Seattle-Tacoma International Airport they were paged by KARL FLEMING who was already there. They then proceeded to a motel which [] described as being on the water and within a few miles of where they rented a Hertz car the following day.

They met at the motel where they all stayed the previous night at 7:00 AM the following morning. They were picked up at the motel by a driver supplied by FLEMING and they all then proceeded to a Hertz Rent-A-Car agency in downtown Seattle, where they rented a car. This car was not described by []

The driver supplied by FLEMING then drove [] along a freeway in Seattle, along the Monorail and in a direction away from the Seattle-Tacoma International Airport. When they arrived at the aforementioned parking area he and [] [] They also strung out [] so that, when the [] were some 100 feet away from where FLEMING and the other person were standing, [] He advised that [] was done out on the open beach. He stated that after he had the equipment set up they were at the remote control some 100 feet away when FLEMING and the other person with him came []

[] advised that they previously had been instructed to block their ears and stated that in fact they did not hear [] After about a 20 minute interview [] and the person with him withdrew []

He could not see the man's hair because of the hat. The man did not smoke (at least at that time).

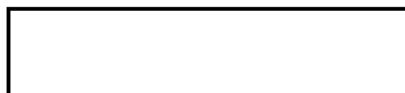

[] advised that when they first met FLEMING he told them that he wanted them to [] interview with a "big fugitive" and also mentioned something about being involved in some hearings. He advised that he and [] [] for the operation.

ASAC PAUL R. BIBLER

SAC JOE JAMESON called from Philadelphia. He said a [redacted] informant [redacted] whose name is [redacted] who has been quite reliable in the past and a bank robbery, had given information about this case.

[redacted] is presently in Los Angeles and out there he met a man named [redacted] mentioned to him he had a great assignment working for [redacted]. The informant asked [redacted] which one it was and mentioned two or three of them by name and finally said it was the hijacker who jumped by parachute in Seattle. [redacted] then said it was and that he had gone to Seattle and there, on a certain street corner, he met a woman in a yellow dress who introduced him to the hijacker, that he had a long conversation which he [redacted] and which Newsweek was [redacted].

I suggested to [redacted] that in view of the rather strange nature of this information that he set out a teletype to the Bureau, Seattle and Los Angeles to have Los Angeles thoroughly reinterview the informant; to interview [redacted] and get to the bottom of it as soon as possible. He said that they would.

NORJAK
OO: SEATTLE

Those serials pertaining to [REDACTED] and DONALD SYLVESTER MURPHY have been removed from the NORJAK file and have been enclosed into a [REDACTED] for the following reasons:

1. To consolidate NORJAK serials and make the NORJAK file as accurate a reflection of the facts in NORJAK as possible.
2. Remove the burden of following and reporting prosecution of a case which is unrelated to NORJAK from the present case agent.

Note: This is consistent with Bureau requirements to "vigorously pursue this matter" and with the memo of ASAC [REDACTED] dated 7/14/72, in which it was noted that this investigation requires the complete investigative attention of one Agent.

3. Will partially prevent confidential information concerning this matter being brought up during the upcoming [REDACTED] MURPHY trial scheduled for 11/27/72.

Note: If it becomes necessary to prove MURPHY is not UNSUB in "open court", careful consideration should be given to how this is done so as to prevent providing the real UNSUB with information he may need to continue to avoid prosecution. In addition, the new leads received as a result of any confidential information being made public will obviously make elimination of new suspects more difficult.

This is to set forth developments concerning captioned case which involves the hijacking of a Northwest Orient Airlines plane on Thanksgiving Evening, November 24, 1971, by an individual who, after securing $200,000 ransom and four parachutes, parachuted from the plane. Intensive investigation has been conducted to identify and locate the hijacker, who used the name of D. Cooper.

On Saturday night, April 15, 1972, Henry E. Petersen, Assistant Attorney General, Criminal Division, was telephonically contacted by an Atlanta, Georgia, [redacted], who is known to Petersen. Petersen stated [redacted] is active in the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) and is a well-known [redacted]. [redacted] said he represented an author who has written a story about captioned case. The manuscript was to be submitted to an unidentified publisher later this week. [redacted] stated the author wrote the story, allegedly based on an interview with the subject. [redacted] stated, however, neither he nor the author knew where the subject was at this time.

[redacted] stated he would make available to Petersen a copy of the manuscript, together with a picture of the alleged hijacker, whose identity [redacted] did not know. He said he would do this on the condition no contact would be made with [redacted] or the unidentified client except through Petersen, that no disclosure would be made where the information came from, and that it be used for lead purposes to identify the hijacker. He requested immunity for his client, the author, who, according to [redacted] had nothing to do with the hijacking and came into the picture long after it had occurred. Petersen granted immunity if a copy of the manuscript and picture would be made available.

Subsequently, a copy of the script was delivered to Petersen. However, the picture allegedly is to be mailed to him. Petersen has made this manuscript available and from a quick review it appears the script is based on public-source information and the imagination of the author. Many possible leads were developed and are being handled. The manuscript is being minutely reviewed, and arrangements have been made to secure the photograph from Petersen when he receives it.

On April 25, 1972, [REDACTED]
[REDACTED] Kitsap County Bank, advised that two accounts were current at that branch for the account of WILLIAM B. LEWIS. The first, under the name of Seven Beaver Development Company, was described as a long-standing business checking account. The second, under the name of Lewis Logging Company, was described as WILLIAM LEWIS's major operating account, where it was not unusual to receive deposits of five, ten or twenty thousand dollars in the form of contracting checks. [REDACTED] indicated that he did not recall any large cash deposits as having been made to either of these accounts during the last two months, and that he would have recalled any such deposits inasmuch as large cash deposits are always brought to the attention of the bank officers.

Again, on April 25, 1972, during a subsequent telephone call, [REDACTED] advised this office that a Subpoena Duces Tecum would be necessary to further review the above accounts or to obtain a more detailed account of recent banking activities in these accounts.

The data are given in the form of the mean rate of reaction, \bar{r} , and the standard deviation, σ , for each concentration. The results show that the rate of reaction increases with increasing concentration of the solution, and that the standard deviation also increases with increasing concentration.

Dear Mr. Milnes,

[REDACTED] Mr. Donald S. Murphy of Bremerton who was interrogated by two of your agents on April 27, 1972 here in Bremerton. At that time he signed a statement as requested by the agents, and I would appreciate immediately receiving a copy of that statement for my records.

On 5/1/72 SA ROBERT STRANGER, NORJAK case Agent at Los Angeles, advised he had just received a telephone call from KARL FLEMING who asked for the name and telephone number of the SAC of the Seattle Office. In that call he indicated that he is more than willing to come to Seattle to be of whatever assistance he can concerning the transcript of the hijacker's story.

STRANGER said he also recommended to FLEMING that he might want to consult with the United States Attorney at Seattle and he was given the name of Mr. PITKIN and PITKIN's telephone number. STRANGER also advised he had talked to the doctor who has been handling the recovery treatment of MAX PALEVSKY since his release from the hospital. The doctor told SA STRANGER that PALEVSKY is now in France and the doctor would not approve any contact with PALEVSKY at this time. He expects that PALEVSKY will return to the United States in about a month and would anticipate that he might be well enough for an interview at that time.

The above information was furnished to SAC MILNES.

She specifically noted similarities between the hijacker and photograph number 3 in the mouth, nose, lips, and style of sunglasses. She further stated that the hijacker's face was thinner than the individual depicted in photograph number 3.

FLEMING advised that in addition to being a Contributing Editor for Newsweek Magazine, he has formed a partnership in a firm under the name Platypus Publications, Incorporated with MAX PALEVSKY. [redacted] was contacted at his residence, [redacted] about 1:30 a.m. He was shown photographs of eleven white male individuals. He picked one photograph of a white male and provided the following information: Saturday afternoon but the next phone call placed an appointment to early morning on Saturday. The photograph which he picked was a white male dressed in a tie and sweater, wearing sunglasses with wire rims. The individual is standing in front of a vehicle and is in a street scene. The individual's hands are out of sight in the photograph and appear to be in front of him. [redacted] said that this is the same photograph which was shown to him at 2 a.m. on April 22, 1972, by [redacted] of "Newsweek" magazine. He said that the individual in the photograph appears to be very much like the hijacker of the Northwest Airlines plane in November, 1971. [redacted] that he did not want to give positive answers to [redacted] but [redacted] explained that the points of identification he used were the man's mouth, which is identical to the hijacker, and the man's chin and neck which are very much like the hijacker's. He remembers the hijacker's nose and ears to be average and the individual's nose and ears in the photograph are average.

When he was interviewed by [redacted] of "Newsweek" magazine, [redacted] popped out of his briefcase an 8" x 10" photograph of the same picture. When he had made the appointment to see [redacted] did not mention that he would be showing a photograph. When he popped out the photograph, [redacted] stated "Well, is this the guy." [redacted] said that he has been shown at least 500 different photographs and because of the time lapse he could not be sure if this was the hijacker. He told [redacted] that the mouth of the man in the photograph appeared similar to the hijacker's mouth. He did not give [redacted] a positive, affirmative answer as he has given to Agents of the FBI as to his identification of the photograph being the hijacker.

[redacted] was contacted personally and interviewed in a Bureau car [redacted]. He was shown 12 photographs of white male individuals. He picked one photograph from the group and stated that this individual appeared to look most like the hijacker of the Northwest Airlines plane in November, 1971, than any of the other individuals in the group.

The photograph which [redacted] picked shows a white male wearing a sport coat and sport shirt with no tie, sunglasses and a black and white knit cap. [redacted] advised that he could not identify or eliminate this individual as being the hijacker without seeing more of his forehead; however, the individual looks more like the hijacker than any other individual in the group of photographs.

The photographs have been retained.

[redacted] who resides in [redacted] [redacted], advised telephonically that he had been contacted by a "Newsweek" magazine reporter whose name was [redacted] regarding the hijacking which occurred on Northwest Airlines in November, 1971. [redacted] provided the following information:

[redacted] called him long-distance and asked if he would be available for an interview at 2 a.m. on April 22, 1972. [redacted] replied to [redacted] that he would be awake and up and would be available for the interview. [redacted] arrived at [redacted] and pulled out a photograph. [redacted] looked at the photograph and thought to himself that the individual depicted in the photograph looked very much like the hijacker of the Northwest Airlines plane. [redacted] said that he did not tell [redacted] his thoughts about the man in the photograph being the hijacker. He told [redacted] that it has been a very long time and he has been shown numerous photographs and his memory has faded and he could not determine if the man in the photograph was the hijacker.

[redacted] said the photograph was of a white male wearing a tie and a sweater or suit coat. The individual was wearing sunglasses with wire-rim frames. The individual was on a street and appeared to be walking toward a sidewalk. The man's hands were folded in front of him and out of sight in the photograph. [redacted] received the impression that the man may have been handcuffed but did not see any handcuffs in the photograph. He noted that the license plates of vehicles in the pictures and names of stores in the picture had been smeared in order to prevent identification of the location of the scene.

And one time we got onto suburbia -- what he would do some Sunday if a large group from Skid Row showed up with bedraggled clothes, unwashed and reeking of last night's drink, how he would react to this. I asked him why he didn't go out and solicit this type of person. Didn't they need saving as much as his well-to-do parishioners? And he couldn't answer that very well, What answer could he give? I said good naturedly that he was a 14-carat phony. That he was just a rising young executive who didn't have any more idea of the true meaning of religion, even though he was an ordained minister, than I did. As far as I am concerned, the people working down in the mission districts so that these poor dregs of humanity can get something to eat and get through another day-- perhaps they have the truer meaning of religion.

On May 1, 1972, I talked to SA RICHARD GALLAGHER at the Bureau. He wanted to know why the USA only wanted to file ITSP charges. I told him that we had discussed this with the USA, and while technically they could file FBW as well as ITSP charges, he felt it was best to file the one and then if we wanted to add the other we could do so in the indictment.

He reminded me of Mr. HENRY PETERSON's interest in this case and suggested that Mr. PITKIN contact PETERSON about it. I told him that Mr. PITKIN, per Mr. PITKIN's earlier call, was going to talk to PETERSON about a defacto immunity for FLEMING concerning [REDACTED] not delivered by [REDACTED] to the New York Agents. These two tapes were made by FLEMING in his original interviews with [REDACTED] and were illegal under California law but legal under Federal law. When he heard the news of captioned hijacking, and the fact that it occurred in the Oregon area and the hijacker used the name COOPER, he immediately thought of [redacted] MARVIN JOHN COOPER, who was last known to be in Portland, Oregon. He particularly noted the hairline, stating that if the hair in the photograph observed was marcelled as was the hijacker's, it would be an exceptionally good likeness. He further noted strong similarities in the high cheekbones, the long nose, and eyes as he remembered the hijacker.

He was unable to determine from the photograph the complexion of CATALANO but again emphasized the hijacker had a swarthy or Latin type complexion and it appeared to him CATALANO might have such a complexion. He would prefer to see a color photograph and additional photographs of CATALANO.

SUSPECT #370

ReSE memo of SA [REDACTED], dated 4/7/72;
and memo of SA [REDACTED] dated 4/14/72.

ROUNSAUELL has contacted the Seattle Office of the FBI on several occasions since first being interviewed by Bureau Agents. He has been extremely helpful with regard to background information on himself, and his whereabouts on November 24, 1971. He was advised that efforts to locate a recent photograph of him have met with negative results and he voluntarily offered a private photograph for viewing by witnesses.

In view of this and the fact that ROUNSAUELL's facial characteristics did not match those on the artist's composite sketch, it is recommended that investigation of him as a suspect in this case be terminated.

[redacted] Salem, Oregon, advised on 3/31/72, that after visiting an area previously [redacted] which is located approximately [redacted] Oregon, returned to this site with two members of the Oregon State Police (OSP). She had asked the OSP to accompany her because on the first visit she had observed a tent and bits of paraphernalia to indicate someone was living at the abandoned home site. The land is presently owned by the Georgia Pacific Company, and you are supposed to have permission before you can enter the area. The second trip was on 3/25/72, and as on the first occasion, she did not observe the individual who was living at the old homestead. The OSP determined that one person was living in a tent with no items of identification located.

[redacted] Oregon, on 3/25/72, and determined that an unknown individual had been living at an abandoned home site for a short period of time, probably less than two weeks. Items of clothing, and of a personal nature were found in a tent, and appeared to belong to a young adult. Lieutenant [redacted] said that his men had surmised that the camp site belonged to students on spring vacation. There was no indication whatsoever to indicate that the individual was a fugitive from justice, or involved in any illegal activities, and the camp site had definitely been set up within a week or ten days. Lieutenant [redacted] pointed out that the entire Linn County mountain area was full of young people and hippie-types living in tents and shacks, and [redacted]

SUBJECT: NORJAK

A [redacted] Salem, Oregon, telephone [redacted] called ASAC PAUL R. BIBLER of this office, at his home on 3/24/72. She stated that she had hiked up into the hills, about 11 miles east of Lebanon, Oregon, on some property owned by Georgia Pacific. As she approached the area where an old mill formerly stood, she saw some fresh cut daffodils. Subsequently she found a place where a creek had been dammed and a very small tent had been erected, partially hidden by some cedar trees. She observed a sleeping bag and a three pound coffee can and got the impression that this camp had been there for some time. She said the area is not a camp site and no one should be camping there and she thought of the fugitive in this case.

It is suggested Portland reinterview her to determine if there is any reason to feel the camp she saw is connected with this situation and if necessary, check out the occupant of the camp.
